"Temperance Belegates," held at 68 East Broadway, which was published in one of the city papers of Friday morning, Mr. Benjamin Buckman is reported to have said that "over 17,000 people were pledged and armsed, and their names written down, with Captain Frence at their head, to oppose and overturn any public movement attempted in the Fark on the part of the temperance interest; he hoped, therefore, the Tabarnasi would be chosen as the most suitable place, though if it was voted to go to the Fark, he should go, and if need be, fight for the cause."

There is not one word of truth in the foregoing, as far as it relates to any organization with which I am connected being armed for the purpose of assailing the just rights of any class of their fellow-citizens to assemble in the Park, or any other place, to express their epinions upon any subject, however much they may, is their intemperate real, abuse liquor dealers.

Mr. Buckman has never seen anything in the action of the liquor dealers, which would justify a charge of se infamous a character; but on the contrary, they have publicly avowed that they intend to resist the Prehibitory Liquor law legally and peaceably.

If would appear by the reports of the temperance macetings that they are a fighting party, as reverend gentlemen are reported as pledging themselves to they would cheerfully shed the life's blood of 20,000 of the people of this city rather than the Maine law abands not be enforced.

In fact, the "temperance party" of coercionists are the only persons who talk of riots and bloodshed; there were no less than three of the speakers in the convention aforesaid, who volunteered their services as fighting mee.
